

Tells About Big Slide in Montana

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) — The mountain fell first—and then the water came.

That's the account of a California dentist and his friends who survived the Madison Canyon earthquake and avalanche below Hobgen Dam Monday night.

Dr. Reed Quesnell of Arcadia, Calif., gave the account when questioned concerning a theory that water spilling over the dam raced through the canyon and swept some campers away before the mountain collapsed.

"Not so," said Dr. Quesnell. "First came the earthquake. Then the mountain collapsed into the canyon. And after that came a wave of water. This wave is what hit and injured a number of those hurt in the disaster."

Dr. Quesnell, his wife and two friends and their families — Sam Kuehnig of Lakewood, Calif., and like Kuehnig of La Puente, Calif., said they believed an unknown number of campers in the area were buried by the big slide.

"We have vacationed there every summer for 10 years," Dr. Quesnell said. "And every year there have been the same two trailers in the same place. They were there again this year, as close to the river they could first from their doors. And those two trailers did not come out of the canyon when we were evacuated Wednesday. There undoubtedly are many others buried with them."

Counterfeit Bills Passed in State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Counterfeit $10 bills were passed in several Arkansas towns recently by a St. Louis counterfeit ring and some of the bills may still be in circulation, the Secret Service says.

At least seven bills were reported spent in Fort Smith, Ash Grove, Fayette and Texarkana. In addition, the service said, members of the ring claimed they burned about $40,000 in fake money near Texarkana.

The ring was smashed by federal agents early this month. Four of its members, arrested at St. Louis, were charged with possessing and passing counterfeit bills.

NEXT DECADE FOR THE DOGFACE — The U.S. Army recently unveiled what it called the "ultimate weapon" for the 1985 era — a soldier. But it is a soldier unlike any that was ever seen before in our history. The Army says it has the know-how to produce this soldier of tomorrow. All it needs is the "green light and the green cash." Sketch above depicts a possible scene in the field, showing various items that one day may be standard personal equipment for infantrymen, together with other pieces of advanced ordnance. Many of these new devices are already well along in the development stages.

Abruptly Haskell braced his legs, stiffened his back and threw himself away from him. This was something Tendler had not expected, and the surprise of it caught him off guard. Before he could react, Haskell landed his first blow, hitting him in the mouth, solid and jarring, pulsing Tendler's lips against his teeth, bringing a spurt of crimson.

Haskell moved as though to follow up, and Tendler tried to repeat his first maneuver of dodging low and driving another crusher to the body. But this time Haskell's move was a feint, he stepped back, letting Tendler's fist fall empty air. Then as Haskell, off balance, lunged by, Haskell clubbed him savagely across the back of the neck.

The power of this, plus the impact of his own useless lunge, sent Vince Tendler floundering down to his hands and knees, the butt of his gun flaring wide past his hunched back and bent hips. Haskell grabbed the weapon, jerked it free and threw it out in the street. Then he set himself back, furiously turning, fists balled and ready. Haskell blasted him solidly on the angle of the jaw, down again, rocked back on his haunches.

For 10 ticking seconds he stayed that way, dazed and blinking, a vast unbelief on his face, the look of one unable to understand how such a thing could happen. He shook his head and came up, no longer full of bleeding, headless confidence, but with a calculating caution now, which made him doubly dangerous.

Katherine Levening had retreated to the doorway at the start of this thing, and she stood there now beside Alito Jettick, pale of face and strained of eye.

"Stop it, Vince—stop it!" Neither Haskell nor Tendler heard a word that the girl or Jettick said. Nor did they see Jim Hovey, the stage driver, come hurrying along the street from the stable Or Art Oren step out of the Canyon House and Amos Potter from the hotel.

Haskell and Tendler were intent only on each other. They weaved in and out along the porch, feinting back and forth, circling, waiting, watching for the big chance with a deadly intensity. Already their exertions and concentrated purpose had them panting, mouths open, and from Vince Tendler's masked lips little bubbles of crimson formed and blew outward.

It was Tendler's intolerant arrogance and conceit which set off the next explosion of violent action. He had been knocked down by the man Grady Haskell, and the knowledge was the bitterest of gall and wormwood to him, despite a certain degree of caution, he was unable to match the icy, calculating patience which had descended on Grady Haskell.

So now they stood toe to toe and beat each other about the body and head and face until, as though by mutual agreement, they stepped back to collect their forces and their breath for the Tendler. Catching Tendler coming and circled, Tendler's spur chains dragging, Haskell's boot heels striking solid and measured on the planks of the porch. Both were bleeding at the mouth, now, both had lifting, darkening welts about the face.

Haskell, aiming for the jaw again.

Cites Waste on Arkansas Lands

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Much of the state's six million acres of grassland is being wasted, the Arkansas Grassland Conference was told yesterday.

Marvin Mellon of Jonesboro, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce, said industry proper planning and cultivation was responsible for the situation.

Mellon said four million acres of the grassland are in use, but of the other two million acres less than 400,000 have been approved for pasture land.

Some 500 farmers and ranchers attended the one-day conference, purpose of which was to outline ways in which grassland and pastures can best be used.

Mellon pointed out that cattle rank fifth in Arkansas' agricultural income picture.

"By improving our grasses and use of pasture this standing can be materially increased," he said.

Another speaker to plug for cattle was Harold Snyder, president of Arkansas Valley Industries.

Snyder said every Arkansas citizen has a potential new "industry" in idle lands which could be put to use as pasture for beef cattle.

Among well known Arkansas musicians: William Grant Still, negro composer of the "Afro-American Symphony" and other orchestral and ballet music.

He again, found it squarely with a rifle smash that knocked Tendler. Catching Tendler coming to the power of it, it was by the most damaging blow of the fight, it hurt Tendler badly, and he lay as he was for a long moment, blinking stupidly. Then, to one unsteady knee, behind the stupidity, a crimson glint of cuir-haut to his holster and found it empty.

Tendler lurched upright, tried to back away, but the effects of the knockdown made him slow and unsure. Haskell cornered him against the building and hit him three times, a right, a left, then a crashing right, all to the face.

Tendler's knees shook and he slid down a little way. He tried to swing into the clear, both arms and gave Tendler back his first blow, a lifting hook under the heart.

Something not far from a groan erupted from Tendler's throat. His mouth opened wide, his chin dropped, and a slime of crimson ran across it.

Tendler tried a weakly pawing swing, which Haskell caught on a hunched left shoulder, and with a short, crossing right, dropped Tendler and Tendler lay there, sick and groaning, now.

Vince Tendler had known his share of rough and tumble. He'd whined more than his share of men, some of whom had been "good" with their fists. He'd been "good" before, but never as he had this day.

Haskell turned away for a moment. The crumpled reward dapper lay over against the wall, close to the door. Slowly he picked it up, a drip of crimson from his lips falling to stain it.

With battered, clumsy hands then returned to the dodger. Tendler had once more staggered forward, leaning against the wall for support. Haskell held the dodger out to him.

"Put it back!" I'll whip you until you do it. (To Be Continued)

Youths Will Join Parents in Russia

CHICAGO (AP)—The four young Kozmin brothers, who have become as much American as any crew cut, blue-jarred youngsters down the street, soon will rejoin their parents in Russia in a home they never knew.

A circuit court judge ruled yesterday that the four boys—Richard, 12; George, 11; Paul, 10, and Peter, 9—must be returned to their parents in Moscow because it would be contrary to American principles to keep them here. At one time the Kuzman family lived at Cabot, Ark.

The parents, George, 55, and Nadejda, 37, returned to their native land voluntarily in 1937. Despite Russian protests, the boys were kept here as court wards.

Since then, they had become the pawns in an international custody case.

They are looking forward to the reunion with their parents, a county welfare department official said, after the youngsters were notified of Judge Thomas Kluczynski's decision.

The boys are pretty mature, and they took the news calmly," said Albert J. Neely, director of the department's Children's division. He added that the main question the youngsters asked was "when?"

The boys, who now speak and understand only English came to the United States in 1930 with their parents, former slave laborers under the Nazi Germans.

The Kozmins worked for a short time in 1931 on a farm near Cabot. Thompson, a member of the Arkansas Public Service Commission.

Thompson said the Kozmins left Arkansas because the father preferred photography to farm work.

'The Thing' Dies After Short Life

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Good-bye, whatever you were.

"The Thing" is dead. The thing was owned by Judy Lane, 15. She still doesn't know what it was, but said, "There is no life left in it."

Judy found a dark mass growing in a sealed bottle in June, 1958. The bottle had contained coloring, but examination showed "The Thing" had a definite cell structure.

Judy fed it raw egg. It grew. She divided it. Both parts kept growing until each was about three inches around.

Bochemists to whom she sent samples were puzzled. One selected.

Mistaken Identity Brings Lawsuit

NEW YORK (AP)—Seymour Kroll, a married Brooklyn man—mistaken for the missing husband in an abandonment case — is claiming a million dollars damages from New York City on the ground of false arrest.

The city has 30 days to settle or reject the claim. If it is rejected, Kroll can sue in State Supreme Court.

Kroll was arrested Aug. 9 on a fugitive warrant for a Seymour Kroll who had abandoned his wife and four children in Utica, N.C. The warrant had been obtained by City Police. Kroll was held in jail overnight.

Last Friday, Mrs. Seymour Kroll of Utica faced the Brooklyn Seymour Kroll in felony court and said he was not her missing husband. The charge against Kroll was dismissed.

Morrilton to Get Help to Clear Slums

WASHINGTON (AP)—The program of Morrilton, Ark., to eliminate slums and blighted areas has been approved by Norman P. Mason, the housing administrator.

This approval is a prerequisite for federal assistance in the form of loans and grants for slum clearance and rehabilitation, for public housing, and for liberal types of mortgage insurance for private redevelopment of project areas and for rehoming of displaced families.

Morrilton informed the Housing and Home Finance Agency that the city in 1957 contracted with the University of Arkansas for the development of a comprehensive community plan. Already completed and adopted, the city said, are land use and major thoroughfare plans, as well as subdivision regulations. A zoning ordinance is slated for completion this year.

July 28, 1959, the first Territorial Legislature met at Arkansas Post.

Costs of cloths per yard at the Arkansas Post is $11.00.

Chicago's Lead Cut; Indians Beat Senators

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Somewhere ask how much the Chicago White Sox would miss Billy Pierce? So far the injured left-hander has missed one starting assignment and their American League lead is down to 2½ games almost out of half.

The White Sox led by 4½ games the biggest bludge of the year in the AL when Pierce was shelved Monday for from five to eight days to nurse his ailing hip. Uninjured Pierce would have pitched either Wednesday or Thursday against Baltimore. Without him the Sox dropped both games while second place Cleveland took two from Washington.

The Orioles counted 10 runs in the two games beating Barry Latham 7-6 Thursday for the White Sox' fourth defeat in the last five games.

Cleveland continued its rebound from a four-game slump by beating Washington 6-1 behind Jim (Mudcat) Grant.

Detroit walloped the Yankees 14-2 and Boston overcame three home runs by Kansas City's Roy Cerven for an 11-0 decision over the A's.

In the National League San Francisco retained a two-game edge and dropped third place Milwaukee four games behind with a 5-3 victory over the Braves. Second place Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 8-5. Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 3-1 and the Chicago Cubs split a two-night doubleheader at Philadelphia winning 6-4 after an 8-5 defeat.

The Orioles tagged Latham (5-5) and six relievers for 13 hits, three runs for the White Sox who had 10 hits and made it close with two runs in the seventh off Billy Loe after winner Hoyt Wilhelm (12-8) was lifted for a pinch hitter.

Two home runs did it for the Indians. Ed FitzGerald smoked the first of the year and Woody Held then cracked a 1-1 tie with a two-run shot his 23rd in the seventh against loser Pat Ramos (11-15). Grant (8-5) lost his shut-out in the sixth on a walk sacrifice and Bob Allison's double.

Mill Bolling who hammered two home runs and Gail Harris each drove in six runs for the Tigers. Jim Bunning (12-10) beat the Yankees for the first time this season with a five-hitter. Gary Blaylock lost it in his first AL decision.

Rookie Earl Wilson driving in three runs with a single and a double won his first major league decision as the third of five Red Sox pitchers. Tom Sturdivant (1-5) was the loser for the A's.

Three games in Softball Play

PINE BLUFF Ark. (AP)—Three games are scheduled today in the Women's Southwest Regional Softball Tournament. Pine Bluff beat Memphis last night 13-1 in the tournament opener.

The double elimination tournament lasts through Sunday.

Arkansas Team Beat at New Orleans

PONTCHATOULA La. (AP)—The Arkansas entry was knocked out of the American Legion junior baseball regional tournament yesterday. Little Rock Coleman Dairy was beaten 5-1 by Lubbock Tex.

The Little Rock team lost its first game Wednesday. A double-elimination system allowed a team two defeats before elimination.

Jimmy Harris' bases-loaded second inning triple accounted for four lubbock runs in that inning. The only Little Rock run came on Glenn Fields' homer in the third. Little Rock 001 000 000-1 7 0. Lubbock 041 000 000-5 8 1.

Spahn Falters, Giants Retain 2-Game Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Warren Spahn couldn't do it. Milwaukee's 28-year-old southpaw ace called on for his third start and fourth appearance in 10 days finally was nailed by Sam Jones and San Francisco's Wonderous Willie Thursday night as the Giants beat the Braves 5-3.

It was Spahn's third defeat in his last four decisions and once again kept him from pairing with Lew Poldette who beat the Giants 3-2 Wednesday for the one-two pitching punch that had the Braves in command through the first half of the season.

The Giants retained their two-game National League lead over Los Angeles while skidding the third place Braves four games behind again.

It was Jones beating Milwaukee for the fifth time against two losses (both to Spahn) and the Willie-Mays McCovey—who did it.

McCovey had three hits and drove in three runs putting it away with his seventh homer after Mays had lined his third single with two out in the ninth.

Los Angeles kept the pace beating Cincinnati 8-5.

Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 3-1. The Chicago Cubs split a two-night at Philadelphia beating the Phils 6-4 after losing 8-5 in the replay of Wednesday's 12-inning tie.

In the American League the Chicago White Sox' lead was cut to 2½ games when they dropped their second straight to Baltimore 7-6 and second place Cleveland beat Washington 6-1 and Detroit walloped New York 14-2 and Boston out-staggered Kansas City 11-9.

Los Angeles beaten by a seven-run eighth at Cincinnati the night before squared things when a third strike got past catcher Ed Bailey with two out and nobody on base in the fifth. Blanked on two hits by Bob Purkey (10-13) 'til then the Dodgers poured across with Charlie Neal's double scoring two runs and Norm Larker's Teams seeing first round action today will be Plainville La.; New Orleans and Oklahoma City. Broglie (6-10) in the fifth.

PROBLEMS OF LIFE AND FAITH

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The problems of life and faith, the subject of the Book of Job, and of its modern counterpart, the play "J.B.," are so close to many current religious offerings of help so shallow, that I want to add a little to what I have recently written.

Some of it is concerned with the late Dr. Lloyd Douglas, author of the novel, "The Robe." For some years I had an intimate friendship with Dr. Douglas. We corresponded freely for some time before we met, and a few years before his first successful novel, "The Magnificent Obsession," was published, he told me of the plot he had in mind, and of his intention to write the story.

When I reviewed a later story by Dr. Douglas, I could not suppress an irritated feeling that my friend had written with one eye on the popular movies, and had not achieved his best. I was further irritated with the feeling that it was far too light and inadequate for the problem with which it dealt.

I wrote that it was more calculated to deal with spiritual tumblings and ingrown toenails than with real spiritual troubles. Another friend, Prof. Harold Luccock, of Yale University, must have felt as I did as he used my criticism in his book on religion in current fiction.

Nevertheless, I think the criticism had truth, and I am glad to say that it does not in any sense apply to an almost unknown novel by Douglas, "Forgive Us Our Tresspasses," which I consider the best of his books. There he wrote of a problem of life and faith with realism, insight and adequacy. It is a little too simple and honest for the movies, but I have a feeling that it was into it that Douglas put some of his own life.

A novelist who dealt with the problems of life and faith in their depth was George MacDonald. I doubt if his books are read much today, but they are still worth reading. As I recall them, their characters were not concerned with shallow happiness. They never could have sung "glory songs" about "glory for me." If there was little concern for personal happiness, there was great concern about right and justice, the realities of doubt and faith, of heaven, hell and damnation. To have a strong clear faith in God is a great achievement. I mean a faith that is real and deep, and not just a conventional expression of belief. The problem of attaining such a faith today is increased by the new world environment of a nuclear and space age.

But it should not be forgotten that all the complexity depends upon things so small that their smallness is almost incomprehensible. And if we have wondered how God could be everywhere, it is more comprehensible in a radio-active world where we can tune in the sounds and voices that are all around. The spiritual reality of tuning in the God who is everywhere seems as assured as the fact that nothing has altered the ultimate reliance upon the life, words and teachings of Jesus, and it is to the New Testament that we are driven for assurance on the deepest elements of faith. Jesus taught men to find the evidence of God's Fatherhood in their own fatherhood (Matthew 7:11).

News Briefs

DENVER (AP)—Mamie Eisenhower ended a six-day visit with her ailing mother, Elvera Doud, Tuesday night and headed back to Washington by train. Mrs. Doud, 81, has been in failing health for two years.

BOSTON (AP)—New England's billion-dollar resort business expects a good August and an extra pre-Labor Day week to overcome the effects of a wet June-July slump.

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—An Air Force court-martial Tuesday reprimanded Maj. James C. Fournie and fined him $450 for dumping ammunition to avoid a poor mark in practice bombing.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Basil L. Whitener (D-N.C.) introduced a bill to increase the official members of the House from 435 to 438 members otherwise, he said, some states, after the 1980 census, would lose seats because of the two new representatives from Hawaii and the one new representative from Alaska.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) says the United States needs new rifles for its soldiers.

"There have been startling recent improvements in army combat equipment, but most U.S. soldiers and Marines still have rifles whose design is 23 years old," Clark said in a newsletter to constituents.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A 20-year-old youth was fatally stabbed Tuesday night in a Latin American brawl witnessed by 200 persons.

Police said the mele outside a bar coffee-stall did not appear to stem from Cuban politics. They said Jose Gavilla and another youth, who had shaved their heads, apparently got into an argument with several unidentified youths over their appearance. Gavilla was stabbed by an unknown knife-wielder.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Scotty Beckett, onetime child movie star, was injured seriously Tuesday night when his car hit a tree in West Los Angeles. Doctors reported Beckett, 29, suffered a broken hip and severe cuts and bruises.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has passed a bill to end the equal time requirement for radio and television stations in news broadcasts about political candidates.

Under existing law, broadcasters who display a political candidate in the course of a newscast must give equal free time to any other bona fide candidate for that office.

The House bill, passed by a one-sided voice vote Tuesday, would exempt from the equal time requirement any appearance of a candidate on a bona fide news event, if the candidate's appearance was incidental to presenting the news.

BOSTON (AP)—About 30 police men with drawn guns broke up a threatened street gang war Tuesday night with whites on one side and Negroes on the other. Police said the youths were armed with clubs and knives. Sgt. John Pastore of the Roxbury division, where the outbreak took place, said the near-rioteer was the outcome of continuing hostilities.

Fish Research Measure Passes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed and sent to the House a bill for research in fish artificial reservoirs.

The author, Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, is concerned about the rapid decline in fishing in such reservoirs, of which his state has several.

Fulbright said that when the reservoirs first are opened the fishing is good but that it falls off rapidly in a few years.

He said that little is known about causes of the decline. The bill would authorize the Interior Department to undertake a study of the situation.

Two Chevy middleweights prove their rawhide stamina!

Top hands on high-country hauls!

Ask any trucker who's been over Wolf Creek Pass, 10,850 feet up in the San Juans; a 9-mile pull to the summit and low gear all the way down. Mr. C. H. Phillips of Alamosa, Colorado, has a 6103 and a 6503 Chevrolet truck that are up over this route the year around, taking sheep and beef to pasture, later marketing the stock in Denver. In less than a year, his Chevy middleweights have averaged about 50,000 miles of this kind of treatment—and they're going stronger than ever! Watch Chevy trucks at work out in range country. It's a sight to see the way they pack into high-up mountain pastures and handle through brush and rock like a cowman's favorite cutting horse. Take any truck work for that matter. Chevy middleweights probably handle a bigger variety of jobs than any trucks alive. About anything you name, including work that used to be reserved strictly for bigger rigs. When a truck's built the way a Chevy is, lean-muscled and rawhide-tough, it takes to ugly trails the same way most trucks roll over the highway. It just keeps going, without a big to-do, but looking good every mile of the way. How they do it is your Chevrolet dealer's department. He'll be glad to supply details and specifications on the type of models you need.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!
